

3.7.18

Dear Parents,

I have collated all Parent Questionnaire responses and thought you might like to see the very positive results, as shown below. This has been the first year we have used an online survey and many parents have commented that it was much easier to complete, as well as being more Eco friendly.

We are delighted that there has been a significant rise in the numbers of parents who read the Week Ahead e-mails each week and in the numbers of parents who access school information via Facebook and Twitter. These are all important ways for parents to find about what is happening in school and what is coming up in the future, in addition to the stickers and notes in the Home School Reading Records.

Thank you to all those parents who have kindly offered to be part of our group of Parent Experts, the children love to work with experts in different fields and it really enhances their learning. The additional comments made in the questionnaire are used to inform our policy and planning.

If you have any further comments you would like to make about home school communication please contact me at: dsanderson@westjesmond.newcastle.sch.uk

Best wishes
Dianne Sanderson
