

Dear Year 6,

We hope you are all safe and well. We can't believe that it has been a week since we wrote to you; we hope you are still working hard, as well as doing lots of fun activities with your families. Don't forget, you can share what you've been doing to our Facebook and Twitter feeds - we'd love to see.

Next week you might want to try a couple of activities from your reading record based on the current book you are reading. Why not challenge yourself to write your own reading comprehension questions about your book? For maths, you could look at co-ordinates of 2D shapes - the pages in your CGP books and information on 'Bitesize' and 'Mathsisfun' should help you.

For art this week, you could do a portrait of someone in your family - even your pet! We're sure any family who aren't living with you would love to receive a drawing in the post. Be imaginative with the media you use - you could try collage, dot painting or pencil shading.

Don't forget to keep being active too - Go Noodle has some great yoga and dance sessions and it's free to log into at the minute. Mrs Hague has added a song to the school website you could learn as well; it's in the music activities section.

In class, we would have been finishing off our work on Welcome to Nowhere this week. If you can get hold of a copy it would be good if you could finish the story to see what adventures Omar, Musa and their families get up to.

Keep trying new things and looking out for your family. We are missing you all.
From Mr McGrath, Miss Ward and Miss Smith.
